GILMORE DAVIS BARKER GROUP

Darbie Kuykendall Harris joined Gilmore Davis Barker Group in January of 2023 as Client Services & Events Coordinator. She is an experienced political consultant operating on both the state and federal level. Darbie has experience advising candidates for congressional, legislative, and judicial races in Arkansas on media relations, digital strategy, and general political communications. In addition to campaign consulting, Darbie is a registered lobbyist who represents clients before the Arkansas General Assembly.

Darbie graduated from the University of Arkansas in the fall of 2016 with a degree in Political Science and minor in Legal Studies. During her time at the University of Arkansas, Darbie was President of her Sorority, Alpha Chi Omega, as well as an active member of College Republicans. She also studied abroad at the University of Oxford in Oxford, England where she studied international relations and political economies.

Upon graduation, Darbie moved to Washington, D.C. in 2017 to work as a scheduler for Congressman Bruce Westerman. She would go on to serve as Campaign Manager for Congressman Bruce Westerman's successful 2018 bid for re-election to Arkansas's Fourth Congressional District.

Since 2018, Darbie has run numerous successful campaigns from the local to statewide level. She recently worked on the 2022 Boozman for Senate Campaign, helping to re-elect Senator John Boozman for a third time to the United States Senate, as well as the re-election of Congressman Westerman, Chairman of the House Natural Resources Committee, to the United States House.

Darbie lives in Little Rock with her husband, Jimmy, and their dog, Woody.
